THE EPHEMERA PROJECT: THE EARLY YEARS ▪ BOOK # 20 of 20

VivaVegie Society

New York City ▪ circa 1991–2002

e·phem·er·a ▪ noun ▪ plural noun: ephemera

Things that exist or are used or enjoyed for only a short time. Items of collectible memorabilia, typically written or printed ones, that were originally expected to have only short-term usefulness or effect.

Collected and bound in 2014

VivaVegie Society was a pioneer of vegan advocacy. It was founded and coordinated by Pamela Teisler Rice in 1991 after she adopted the vegan lifestyle. Ms. Rice's epiphany was the result of a vegan conference and later of reading the explosive exposé by John Robbins Diet for a New America. In the beginning almost all VivaVegie activities surrounded Pamela's "veggie flyer": "101 Reasons Why I'm a Vegetarian." Out she would go with her cohorts to distribute it on the streets of New York City for free. She would get the attention of passersby by wearing a sandwich board that read: "Ask me Why I'm a Vegetarian." On her head would be a stretchy black stocking cap packed with colorful plastic fruit. Street outreach, indeed, continues to this day. But perhaps more significant has been the many other activities Ms. Rice and the VivaVegie Society have engaged in over the decades since, particularly once the group obtained non-profit 501(c)3 status in 1997. A short list would include (1) providing a vegetarian center in New York City, open consistently since 1999 to the present day (2014), (2) publishing 50 issues of The VivaVine, a top quality magazine that tackled hard news topics indicting the meat industry (3) producing many updated and improved and exhaustive editions of "101 Reasons Why I'm a Vegetarian," and perhaps most impressively of all, (4) organizing the annual Veggie Pride Parade followed by a festive rally/expo in Union Square Park (NYC) with dozens of speakers on two stages, exhibitors, free food, and entertainment. This ephemera marks a distinct moment in time before the Internet took hold and people no longer communicated using paper. If you look close, you'll see a compassionate human spirit bursting out. Enjoy the inspiration.

Hello Pamela, My name is Ari P[illegible]a, i'm a 20-ear-old muslim vegetarian. It's interesting to read your "101 reasons why i'm a vegetarian" but unfortunately i don't have any internet access to read t on-line. I have to rent about $1 per 2 hours. I'm an Indonesian Vegan Society member/activist and i really need a copy of your piece of witing ..if you don't mind. Since US dollars are extremely expensive here...I cannot afford to buy overseas. Dear Pamela

Sorry to be so long in answering your note of 5/8 wherein you asked if you could use my recent letter in the next issue of the VivaVine. Yes, feel free to use it.

We have been on vacation and just returned. While in New Orleans we had lunch three times in a delightful vegetarian cafe, Old Dog New Trick Cafe. The food was absolutely delicious. If we had that restaurant in Bend, Oregon, we would eat there daily! Enclosed is one of their menus. They are in the process of opening a second cafe. The one we visited is in the French Quarter with inside and outside tables. The place was packed each time we were there, although it is a small restaurant.

Keep up your wonderful work at VivaVegie Society. If I lived in New York, I would be a volunteer. We look forward to every issue of VivaVine.

Sincerely,

To whom it may concern,

I found your name and address in "The Animals' Agenda" and I was hoping you could help me.

Two of my best friends have birthdays coming up and they are both interested in learning more about animal rights. I decided that information was the best gift for them. I would be so grateful if you could send me two copies of information about your organization.

Thank you so much for your time and cooperation. Both are greatly appreciated.

Dear Pamela

Enclosed is a small donation to assist you in your efforts to promote vegetarianism.

On yesterday's Dr. Dean's show, a point was made about how constipation and breast cancer go together. Low fiber diets were cited as the reason for the constipation.

I remember my gynecologist saying that eating meat causes constipation. That was more than 20 years ago.

Keep up your good work.

BRIGHT IDEAS!

Hi!

I would to obtain a copy of the references of "101 Reasons Why I'm a Vegetarian".

Hopefully it will be OK to send 50¢ Stamp instead of real 50¢.

Thanks!!

ok

A jackhammer pistol punches a hole through the cranium of a six-month-old calf. A metal rod is rammed into the hole and forced through the calf's brain and spinal column, stopping it's kicking. A chain winches the calf to the ceiling, where its throat is slit. Still beating, the heart helps flush blood from the body. Head, hooves and hide removed, the carcass is trucked to wholesalers and the fat to processing plants (where it becomes lipstick and shaving cream). The calf's SKIN is boiled in water, leaving a gritty residue that is filtered, dried and ground into a fine powdered gelatin. At the Atlantic Gelatin Company near Boston, the powder is mixed with sugar, adipic acid, fumaric acid, disodium phosphate, sodium citrate, red dye number 40 and artificial flavoring... and called Jell-O®. Two million boxes of the dessert are sold every day worldwide. Prepared and properly stored in the refrigerator, Jell-O® stays fresh for up to three days.

MY HEART IS MOVED BY ALL I CANNOT SAVE:
SO MUCH HAS BEEN DESTROYED
I HAVE TO CAST MY LOT WITH THOSE WHO AGE AFTER AGE PERSEVERELY

Adrienne Rich (The Dream of a Common Language)

DEAR ABBY: Your letter about having to put away an old and feeble dog reminded me of what we just went through with Beau, who was put to sleep at 16.

Perhaps the enclosed will help those who may have to go through the same experience.

SANDY TEARSE,
MINNEAPOLIS

IN MEMORY OF BEAU

Treat me kindly, my beloved friend, for no heart in all the world is more grateful for kindness than the loving heart of me.

Do not break my spirit with a stick, for though I might lick your hand between the blows, your patience and understanding will more quickly teach me the things you would have me learn.

Speak to me often, for your voice is the world's sweetest music, as you must know by the fierce wagging of my tail when your footstep falls upon my waiting ear.

Please take me inside when it is cold and wet, for I am a domesticated animal, no longer accustomed to bitter elements. I ask no greater glory than the privilege of sitting at your feet beside the hearth.

Keep my pan filled with fresh water, for I can't tell you when I'm thirsty.

Feed me clean food that I may stay well, to romp and play and do your bidding, to walk by your side, and stand ready, willing and able to protect you with my life.

And, my friend, when I am very old, and I no longer enjoy good health, hearing and sight, do not make heroic efforts to keep me going. I am not having any fun. Please see that my trusting life is taken gently. I shall leave this earth knowing with the last breath I draw that my fate was always safest in your hands.

An ancient Chinese verse

"The vegetarian philosophy is not perfect. Its practice may leave something ethical to be desired. Vegetarianism is, in fact, not a philosophy but an aspect of a more perfect way of life. It is a relatively small step in a beneficial direction; a step which, if not taken, can nullify other efforts, for it is doubtful if any worthwhile system can be worked on a basis of cruelty and ruthless exploitation. In the last analysis we must be judged by what we do and not by what we believe. We are as we behave-- with a very small margin of credit for our unmanifested vision of how we might behave if we could take the trouble."

Editorial, The British Vegetarian

Once Upon a Time. . .

Although tofu is something new to Americans, it's been a staple of the Chinese diet for centuries, and as such, it's been given a special place in Chinese literature and folktales. According to National Geographic magazine, in Chinese literature a person who sells bean curd (tofu) is always poor with a good heart. A girl who is beautiful but poor is a doufu-xishi— "a bean-curd beauty." And when a man takes a woman for granted, he is said to be "just eating her tofu."

Mutual of Omaha Covers Lifestyle Program

Dr. Dean Ornish's heart disease reversal program has become the first non-surgical, non-pharmaceutical therapy for heart disease to qualify for insurance reimbursement. Mutual of Omaha has agreed to reimburse patients who follow the program's low-fat vegetarian diet, exercise, smoking cessation, and stress management techniques which have been shown to reverse atherosclerosis in 82 percent of patients. The program is much more effective than the American Heart Association diet, which includes cholesterol and fat from chicken, fish, and other meats and has little effect on heart disease. Dr. Ornish's program costs about $3,500 per year; conventional heart surgery costs about ten times that

ASK CARLA

Q Employees in a nearby supermarket heard a chirping from above the false ceiling in the produce section. They found a sparrow there, stuck to a glue trap. Removing her broke her wing, pulled out tail feathers and bruised her chest. The wildlife rescuer to whom I took her could not rehydrate her because her bill and mouth were coated in glue. She died.

Can you imagine the agony of a mouse or any animal caught in one of these horrors?

A Those who manufacture, sell, or use glue traps, knowing the misery they cause, should be jailed for extreme cruelty to animals. One teenager opened a kitchen drawer and to her horror found a frantic mother mouse mired and having her babies in the glue. A woman found a screaming kitten in a rat gluetrap. A boy found, discarded in a dumpster, three mice writhing and squeaking on gluetraps.

We've heard of irate humanitarians peeling off the bar code stickers from the shelves under glue traps. The merchant's scanner never knows what it misses. Often months pass before someone realizes an item was never reordered; sometimes nobody ever figures it out. On sales records these items show up as poor sellers, making reorders even less likely.

I can't recommend this tactic, but I do urge shoppers to keep the pressure on manufacturers and merchants by letters, phone calls, meeting the store managers, and even by check-out counter confrontations, picketing, and protest demos.

IDEAS ?

reason? Nor Can they talk? but, Can they suffer?'

In this passage Bentham points to the capacity for suffering as the vital characteristic that gives a being the right to equal consideration. The capacity for suffering—or more strictly, for suffering and/or enjoyment or happiness—is not just another characteristic like the capacity for language or higher mathematics. Bentham is not saying that those who try to mark "the insuperable line" that determines whether the interests of a being should be considered happened to have chosen the wrong characteristic. By saying that we must consider the

Pain is pain, whether it be inflicted on man or on beast; and the creature who suffers it, whether man or beast, being sensible to the misery of it, whilst it lasts, suffers evil . . . (T)he white man . . . can have no right, by virtue of his color, to enslave and tyrannize over a black man . . . For the same reason, a man can have no natural right to abuse and torment a beast.

interests of all beings with the capacity for suffering or enjoyment, Bentham does not arbitrarily exclude from consideration any interests at all—as those who draw the line with reference to the possession of reason or language do. The capacity for suffering and enjoyment is a prerequisite for having interests at all, a condition that must be satisfied before we can speak of interests in a meaningful way. It would be nonsense to say that it was not in the interests of a stone to be kicked along the road by a schoolboy. A stone does not have interests because it cannot suffer. Nothing that we can do to it could possibly make any difference to its welfare. The capacity for suffering and enjoyment is, however, not only necessary, but also sufficient for us to say that a being has interests—at an absolute minimum, an interest in not suffering. Mice, for example, do have an interest in not being kicked along the road, because they will suffer if they are.

THE FAMILY OF ALL ANIMALS

We need another wiser and perhaps a more mystical concept of animals.

WE PATRONIZE THEM FOR THEIR INCOMPLETENESS, FOR THEIR TRAGIC FATE OF HAVING TAKEN FORM SO FAR BELOW OURSELVES. Therein,

WE ERR.

For the animal shall not be measured by man. In a world older and more complete than ours, they move finished and complete, gifted with extensions of the senses we have lost or never attained, living by voices we shall never hear.

THEY ARE NOT UNDERLINGS; THEY ARE OTHER NATIONS, CAUGHT WITH OURSELVES IN THE NET OF LIFE AND TIME, FELLOW PRISONERS OF THE SPLENDOR AND TRAVAIL OF THE EARTH.

As promised, here are a handful of jewels for your newsletter.

You may already have some?

We've got loads of these. I live to collect & use them profusely on envelopes & other stationery & places.

Next time you mention me, please remember that I not only love animals — I respect them above all! + that.

THERE IS AN ALTERNATE TO EVERY SINGLE ANIMAL PRODUCT IN EXISTENCE. FIND THEM USE THEM

From Washington

One animal or plant species may become extinct every hour by the end of the century, the Worldwatch Institute believes.

"Should this biological massacre take place, evolution will no doubt continue, but in a grossly distorted manner," reports Eric Eckholm.

All species are doomed to extinction, Eckholm said, but man—through worldwide development, killing of animals for food and profit, and use of toxic chemicals such as pesticides and industrial wastes—will accelerate the extinction of plants and animals.

The result, he added, will be a more hostile environment for man.

"We might as well eat the flesh of men as the flesh of other animals."

Diogenes
Greek Philosopher

SALT can take the place of household products which are tested on animals and also ecologically destructive. 4 tbls. added to the laundry takes out perspiration odors; if dissolved in ammonia, it can be rubbed on grease spots; for rust stains, rub with salt and lemon juice after washing, then let dry in the sun; for furniture marks fromhot dishes, make a paste of salt and salad oil and let stand for an hour or two.

It is really quite miraculous that we can live even more effective lives if we live and let animals live, as well.

Alex Szogyi

If you think you are beaten, you are.
If you think you dare not, you don't.
If you'd like to win, but you think you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you're lost.
For out of the world we find success
Begins with a person's will.
It is all in the state of mind.
If you think you're outclassed, you are.
You've got to think high to rise.
You've got to be sure of yourself
Before you can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster,
But sooner or later the man who wins
Is the one who thinks he can.
There's no skill in easy sailing
When the skies are clear and blue,
And there is no joy in merely doing things
That anyone can do.
But there is great satisfaction
That is mighty sweet to take
When you reach a destination

That you thought you couldn't make.

BIG PROFITS IN ILL HEALTH

There are now 53 chapters of the American Cancer Society, even the name suggests that we are a society of a desease. Even the telephone number of the ACS promotes 1-800-4-CANCER. We are not a society of prevention of illness or one that takes responsibility for its own health, let someone else do it for us. It's much easier to buy and pop a drug, for a hopeful quick fix even if that drug has side effects and is harmful and unnatural for our bodies. Add to this our stressful life styles and poor eating habits, is it any wonder then that the profiteers have us like puppets on a string?

Vivisection is founded on the selfish principle that might is right, that the end justifies the means and that material benefit should take precedence of moral obligation; it appeals to the base instincts of fear and cowardice, and excuses any cruelty on the tyrant's plea of necessity. Before the bar of justice, vivisection stands condemned on three main counts: cruelty to animals, uselessness to man and obstruction on the path of real knowledge.

Congressman Torricelli gave a speech on how to get your Congressperson to co-sponsor and support legislation you want.

The Congressman's advice, in effect, was to pester the life out of your representative. Write, phone, and, if possible, visit his or her office. Bring others with you, if you can, to show more support. Keep up the pressure, and encourage as many others as you can to do the same until the Congressperson becomes inundated with letters and phone calls. Congressman Torricelli reminded us that the other side works very hard to stop legislation that would benefit animals, and we must work just as hard, or even harder, if we want these bills to pass.

SIX BILLION LIVING BEINGS ARE RAISED, TORTURED AND MURDERED FOR HUMAN FOOD EACH YEAR IN THE UNITED STATES ALONE!!!

"To a man whose mind is free, there is something more intolerable in the suffering of animals than in the suffering of men. For with the latter, it is at least admitted that suffering is evil and that the man who causes it is a criminal. But thousands of animals are uselessly butchered every day without a shadow of remorse. If any man were to refer to it, he would be thought ridiculous. And that is the unpardonable crime. That alone is the justification of all that men may suffer. It cries vengeance upon all the human race. If God exists and tolerates it, it cries vengeance upon God. If there exists a good God, then even the most humble of living things must be saved. If God is good only to the strong if there is no justice for the weak and lowly, for the poor creatures who are offered up as a sacrifice to humanity, then there is no such thing as goodness, no such thing as justice...." -Romain Rolland
